Private vehicles to be banned inside Gangothri Campus

Mysuru, Dec. 7 (RK&BCT)- Alarmed by increased vehicular movement inside its campus that is disturbing the academic atmosphere, the University of Mysore has decided to ban the entry of private vehicles on all the roads criss-crossing Manasagangothri.

The issue has been discussed at the Syndicate meeting held recently and modalities of the ban implementation are being worked out. "We will look into the pros and cons of the ban and will also discuss the guidelines, some of it that have already been debated and agreed upon by the Syndicate members," said University Registrar D. Bharathi.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Bharathi said that more than Manasagangothri students, scholars, officials and students, the public was using the road often. "This is causing disturbance to academic atmosphere where students are distracted. We will issue passes and stickers for all the university fraternity and only they will be allowed entry," she said.

For guests and visitors who come to the campus to participate at various events, special arrangement will be made for authorised entry, she added.

Once the ban is enforced, valid users have to paste the sticker on their vehicles and the guards at the four gates will check the documents before allowing entry. "We will follow the Vidhana Soudha model in Bengaluru where only people who have valid passes on them and their vehicles are allowed inside. This will also ensure the safety of students who are now exposed to increased vehicular movement," she said.

Over 3,000 people including students, staff and administrative faculty enter through the four gates of the university – opposite SJCE, Open Air Theatre road (two gates – one next to Open Air Theatre and the other opposite Senate Bhavan) and the main gate on Bogadi Road that has a statue of Rashtrakavi Kuvempu.

Almost all vehicle users proceeding to Saraswathipuram, Kuvempunagar, Paduvarahalli, Vijayanagar, Bogadi use Manasagangothri campus roads.

Cleansing the Augean Stable

Acts of people threatening orderly life both in the country and the rest of the regions across the globe on one side and the cosmic dance of nature's fury, also in and around the country as well as all over the planet on the other side seem to be in perpetual competition in causing devastation to an extent and on a scale beyond the capability of administrations everywhere to manage and restore normalcy even to reasonable levels. Residents of Mysuru, hearing from public speakers of various hues and reading the scripts of seasoned writers about the city's social and cultural profile that has got badly morphed to its current realities must be aghast while witnessing or reading reports in dailies detailing the factors behind the disturbances, violence, high-decibel sloganeering against different sections of society with the government sandwiched between them. Mysureans in their evening of life have surely lived during its golden decades.

There is more reason for despair than hope in the firmament for the fast deteriorating harmony in society to return to even a semblance of the ambience that we hear about in the days goneby. Some well-informed circles trace the goings on to historical events, particularly influx of aliens and their dominating over the land's original inhabitants.

While the events that the pages of the land's long history, particularly the systematic assault on the cultural edifices such as the excellent sculptures and monumental shrines by the invaders first and the much-avowed divide-and-rule strategy of the colonialists second have many valuable lessons directed at realising the imperatives of such events, the present generation has clearly turned a blind eye to those lessons. The clarion calls from the moderates in society, including heads of spiritual institutions and renowned writers respected by their captive readers to not just tolerate but exhibit unalloyed acceptance of socio-cultural diversities among the masses are not making any dent in the outlook of people following different faiths and also ideologies.

In the foregoing backdrop of emotions dominating public behaviour at the drop of a hat, the nation urgently needs a collective and organised action by people at large in the manner of cleaning the Augean Stable as it were. The first step to achieving it is to ruthlessly avoid electing a crop of leaders of the present all-too-familiar-undesirable kind.

OF ECONOMIC OFFENCES AND MURDER: While arguing for bail, an advocate for former stock broker Ketan Parekh pleaded for consideration stating that he had not committed murder. To that the Judge said that economic offences are considered much more serious than murder, which are often committed in a fit of rage. Citing a Supreme Court order, the Judge said economic offences directly impacted the economy of a country and hence, cannot be looked at with any less seriousness than murder.

Ironic demise of 'Cobra King'

Manila: Elies 'Peter (Cobra King) Lenturio, also known as the Philippine snake whisperer, met his end through an act of revenge on his pet cobra: he was bitten by the snake and retaliated by cutting its head off and drinking its blood.

It seems that Elies's mistake was ingesting the blood. However, the Cobra King had gotten numerous snake bites over the years and knew how to treat himself. So, how did this ironic demise come about? The snake whisperer from the Sorsogon province kept his pet cobra in the utility box of his motorbike. On that fatal day, Elies opened the container and the snake bit his left hand. The reptile apparently turned hostile and attacked because its tail was pinched in the box. Whatever the reason, Elies got angry, cut off the snake's head and gulped down its blood. This story we've yet to hear of a fatality caused by drinking poisonous snake blood, but, the bite was probably what actually killed him.

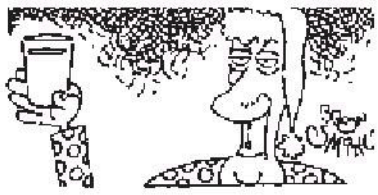
Why is warm milk used as a sleep aid?



Calcium, along with magnesium, deactivates the "awake" hormone adrenaline and promotes quality sleep. The calcium in milk, plus the warmth of the milk, acts as a relaxant. Other good calcium sources: dark leafy greens, cheese, yogurt, whole grains and broccoli.

Bring back heritage essence

Sir,

This has reference to KBG's Point Blank titled 'An eyesore at Mysore Railway Station' (Star of Mysore dated Nov.29).

One fails to understand whose brainchild it was to prompt the Railways all of a sudden and make them paint the serene and majestic looking white pillars with gaudy imprint, deforming and defacing them instantaneously.

As rightly suggested by you, without further ado, can we ask the Railway authorities to undo the damage and restore the originality of the heritage structure as soon as possible? For sure, the travellers will enjoy the grand building more if the Railways also remove the small hoardings of VIVO.

Land acquisition delay hits 10-laning of Mysuru-Bengaluru Road

Once ready, the world-class road will enable commuters to cover two cities in just 90 minutes

Bengaluru, Dec.7 (KMS&BCT)- The ambitious National Highway upgradation project between Mysuru and Bengaluru that will develop the existing Highway into a world-class 60-metre wide 10-lane road has hit a roadblock, thanks to the negligence of State officials and elected representatives.

Sources said that though the Centre has given its approval for the project that will be a boon to two cities and overall to Karnataka, the State has failed to implement the project. Interestingly, the UPA Government had approved the project and the State Government is yet to fully acquire land.

Though 80 percent of the land for the project has been acquired, the Government is yet to begin the rest of the processes. Once realised, commuters between Bengaluru and Mysuru can travel the distance in just about 90 minutes from the present three hours.

In March 2014, the Union Ministry of Surface Transport had announced that some roads across the country will be upgraded to National Highways, of which Bengaluru-Mysuru was one. NHAI is converting the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway (NH-275) into a 10-lane one, including a six-lane expressway.

The expressway will cover a distance of 118 km between Panchamukhi temple after NICE Road in Bengaluru and Columbia Asia Hospital junction in Mysuru. The NHAI project will have six bypasses at Bidadi, Ramanagaram, Channapattana, Maddur, Mandya and Srirangapatna.

The estimated cost of this upgradation is around Rs.4,100 crore. After delays in the initial process, NHAI called for tender in December 2016, but it was cancelled due to technical reasons.

A few months ago, they called bidders to develop the stretch. Under this proposal, the Government of India will fund 40 percent of the project cost (Rs. 1,640 crore), and the remaining will be paid by the bidder (Rs. 2,460 crore). Of the Rs. 2,460 crore, the bidder will take 70 percent loan from banks, which will be repaid by the Government of India in 30 instalments.

The authorities need 1,300 acres to expand the existing four lanes to 10, but there are delays in doing this. According to NHAI officials, land acquisition might take at least another eight months.

"Once we acquire land, the project will take two years. The 10-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru Road will not be ready anytime before 2021," the official added.

Three arrested for JD(S) leader's murder

Victim Santosh

Santosh, who sustained severe bleeding injuries, died on the spot.

Burglars decamp with gold ornaments from locked flat

The theft took place at Flat No.22 in G-Block, belonging to one Harish, who had locked the flat on Nov.30 and had gone out of station along with his family.

Harish, who came to know about the theft when his neighbours informed him over the phone, rushed to Mysuru on Dec.4.

On inspecting the flat, he found earrings, finger ring and other gold ornaments kept in the flat missing and lodged a complaint with Devaraja Police in this regard. Devaraja Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Rowdy-sheeter Ashok Pai escapes another bid on his life

Ashok Pai

Mandya, Dec.7- In a swift action, the Mandya Police have thwarted a plot to eliminate Mandya's notorious rowdy-sheeter Ashok Pai, with the custody of four persons.

This is said to be the second plot on the rowdy-sheeter's life in recent days.

Details: Ashok Pai was coming to the RTO office in Mandya on a motorcycle on Tuesday afternoon to get his Driving Licence (DL), when another group of rowdies followed him in two cars. While one car originated from the Horticulture Department office, another car followed him from RTO Road.

Ashok Pai, who got suspicious about the two cars, tipped off the Police, following which the Mandya Police arrived at the RTO office and succeeded in nabbing the occupants of both the cars.

During interrogation, they confessed to have hatched a plot to eliminate Ashok Pai; while two of those taken into custody have been identified as Dilip and Guru, the identity of others is not yet known.

This was the second attempt on the life of Ashok Pai who was released from the prison over a year ago. The first attempt was in January this year, when miscreants attacked Ashok Pai when he was on his way to visit his wife at Madanahalli in the taluk. However, Pai escaped the attempt in cinematic style then, it is learnt.

Supreme Court favours law to regulate hefty fees charged by lawyers

New Delhi, Dec.7- What a lawyer charges a client remains largely unregulated in India. The advocates' fees rules are only for guidance and there is no bar to money claimed beyond what is fixed under the rules.

The Supreme Court favours a law to check growing commercialisation of the legal profession and to "prescribe floor and ceiling in fees" to ensure the poor were not nudged out of the justice delivery system.

Expressing concern over lawyers demanding "astronomical" fees from litigants, the top Court on Tuesday asked the Government to ensure that the poor too could get legal assistance from the best lawyers so that their right to equal justice was not violated.

The legal profession should make its services available to the needy on the lines of State-run hospitals, a bench of Justice A.K. Goel and Justice U.U. Lalit said.

"It was observed that like public hospitals for medical services, the public sector should have a role in providing legal services for those who cannot afford fee," the bench said, citing the 131st Law Commission report.

The advocates' fee rules are only for guidance and there is no bar to money claimed beyond what is fixed under the rules. The Supreme Court rules 2013 permit a lawyer to charge a maximum of Rs. 8,000 per hearing, barely a fraction of what is actually billed. Top lawyers charge anywhere between Rs.10 lakh and Rs.20 lakh for an appearance in the apex Court.

How much do famous lawyers charge in New Delhi?

NOTED LAWYERS	EACH HEARING [ONE APPEARANCE IN COURT]
Ram Jethmalani	Rs. 25 lakh
Fali Nariman	Rs. 8 to 15 lakh
P. Chidambaram	Rs. 6 to 7 lakh
Harish Salve, former Solicitor General	Rs. 6 to 15 lakh
Kapil Sibal	Rs. 5 to 10 lakh
Shanti Bhushan	Rs. 4.5 to Rs. 6 lakh
Salman Khurshid	Rs. 8 to 11 lakh
Abhishek Manu Singhvi	Rs. 7 to 15 lakh
Gopal Subramaniam	Rs. 11 to 16 lakh
C.A. Sundaram	Rs. 5.5 to Rs. 16 Lakh

[Source: Legally India]

The Court also said though a Law Commission report on ethics in the legal profession was submitted in 1988, no effective law was enacted to regularise the fee or for providing the "public sector services" to needy litigants without any fee or at standardised fee.

Lawyers generally charge clients according to their paying capacity. So, the fee varies from client to client, with corporate clients paying the most usually.

For High Court cases, lawyers charge anywhere between Rs. 3 to Rs. 6 lakh a hearing. If the lawyer has to travel to other High Courts, then the charges could be anywhere between Rs. 10 lakh to Rs. 25 lakh.

For cases in Trial Court, lawyers generally bill the client for the entire case, sometimes as much as Rs.10 lakh. The Supreme Court made the remarks when its attention was drawn to an advocate demanding 16% of the amount received by a client in an accident claim as fee.

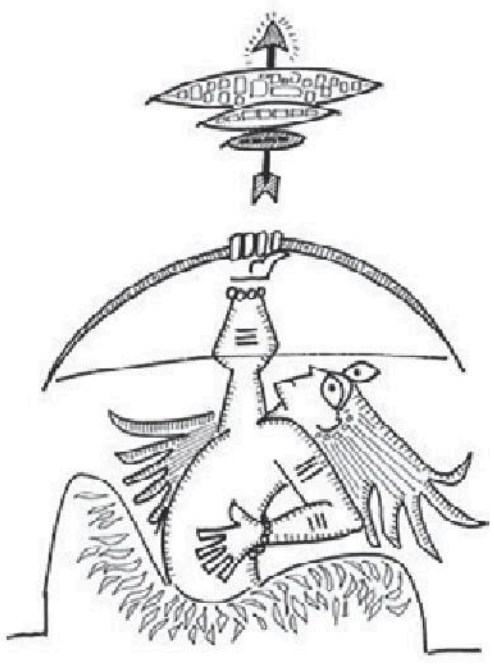
Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Late Diwali for Shiva

Come Diwali, everyone revisits the story of this festival. It is what people do during festivals, trying to understand their origin. Some seek rational explanations: it is harvest time, and so time to party, for example. Some are happy with narrative explanations that are indifferent to reality: it is when Ram returned to Ayodhya. It is the latter which is far more enchanting and hence far more popular. And the more popular a festival, the richer the stories. Diwali is a case in point. Everybody agrees that Diwali is a festival of lights, and sweets, and crackers. Of course, with rising noise and dust pollution, the noisy part of the festival is gaining much disrepute. This is one global Hindu festival that American Indians are at pains to tell meets with the approval of the US President. But, why is this festival celebrated?



In India, festivals come into two clusters based on the summer and winter harvests. And so, there are festivals in spring, followed by festivals in the post-monsoon autumn. Diwali falls in the latter category. And it is full of narratives. The most popular myth associated with Diwali is that it is when Lakshmi, the Goddess of Wealth, arrives in the house and so lights are lit, and houses are cleaned, and decorated with floor and wall paintings, as she is drawn to illuminated, beautiful and clean spaces. This makes Diwali a Goddess festival. In Bengal, she is worshipped in her most primal form, as Kali, on the main festival, which falls on the full moon night. That night is also associated with gambling, reminding everyone that Lakshmi is drawn to people who are either skilled or lucky.

The festival is also linked with various forms of Vishnu. His triumph earns him the love of Lakshmi. And so, on the 14th day of the waxing moon, one celebrates, especially in Deccan region, the festival of Krishna killing the asura Naraka, who is also Vishnu's son by Bhu-devi. And, on the first day of the waning moon one celebrates the defeat of Bali-asura by Vamana, who shoves him to the realm reserved for asuras, Patala, under the ground. That a similar story is told in Kerala for Onam festival leads to confusion and rationalisation, such as 'on Onam he rises from earth and on Diwali he is sent back', thus alluding to old cyclical fertility myths, political arguments notwithstanding. Of course, Diwali is also the victory celebration of the Goddess, who, having killed Mahisha-sura and rested to rid herself of her violent 'chandi' form, restores her auspicious fortune-attracting 'mangala' form. For Ram worshippers, it is the day when Ram returned home from his exile on his Pushpak-vimana and lights were placed in houses to help the celestial 'aeroplane' land. The final day is reserved for Lakshmi's brother Yama, who is the Hindu God of Death, as well as the Hindu God of Accounting. The festival season that begins with Ganesha's worship and then ancestor worship (Pitr Paksha), thus is drawn to an end. But what about Shiva? Shiva is an outsider God. In Vedic rituals, he comes after the yagna has concluded with his dogs and ghost companions to claim the leftovers. Likewise, he has his own Diwali, the Dev Diwali, on the full moon (Kartik or Tripuri Purnima) that follows, which was Nov. 3 this year. Even this is a victory celebration, for the Gods worship Shiva, who shot down three flying asura cities with a single arrow.

Tribal Healers to display Tribal Medicines at 5-day workshop

Mysuru, Dec. 7- The Indira Gandhi Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya (IGRMS), Southern Regional Centre (SRC) and Anthropological Survey of India (ASI), Southern Regional Centre, Bogadi, Mysuru, have jointly organised a National workshop on Tribal Healers and Tribal Medicines at Wellington House, Irwin Road, here from Dec. 10 to 14.

The 5-day workshop will be inaugurated by Prof. Sarit Kumar Chaudhuri, Director, IGRMS Bhopal, on Dec.10 at 11 am.

The workshop is aimed at bringing all the tribal healers on a single platform to display rare tribal medicines and demonstrate the tribal healing practices from Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Uttarakhand.

There will also be a traditional Kerala massage and steam bath at IGRMS premises.

Exhibition

The IGRMS is also organising "Deepam," a special exhibition on lamps from Dec.11 at Southern Regional Centre. The exhibition will be inaugurated by Prof. Pramod Kumar Misra, President Anthropological Association Mysuru, at 11 am in the premises of IGRMS on Irwin Road, according to J. Vijay Mohan, Officer-in-Charge, IGRMS, Mysuru.

Lamp (Deep) is a part of various tradition and cultures around the world in general and India in particular. In almost every Indian home across the rural-urban divide, a lamp is lit daily in relation to sacred or secular domains of culture. Lighting a lamp has certain implication; it exudes positivity and supposed to bring in prosperity, peace and happiness to the inmates. It has a spiritual significance. Lamp is a representative of the fire or light and light symbolises knowledge that removes darkness.

Though lamps are seemingly ageless there is no evidence of their use in the Stone Ages, their first appearance being at the chalcolithic site. However, varieties appeared in the historical levels (6th C. B.C. to 1st C. A.D) and proliferated later on. Even the great epics, ancient scriptures and secular writing make extensive reference to lamps. Later on mythology and folklore has made a powerful and continuous impact on the evolution of lamp by feeding the imagination of artists and craftsmen.

IGRMS to showcase rare lamps at "Deepam" expo from Dec. 11

Lamps are available in terracotta, stone and metal (copper and iron) — earthen or terracotta lamps being the earliest one.

All individual feels a divine presence after lighting a lamp. Traditionally, a lamp is lit to celebrate the birth of a life as well as guide the departing soul into the world beyond. The lighted lamp is used for concentration of the mind during meditation, and lit in doorways for the benefit of the weary traveller. It is used as a sacred and auspicious motif for wedding and greetings.

Welcoming the return of a victorious warrior or festivity to mark the annihilation of a demon, every important occasion is thus set aglow with burning lamps.

Lamp has a two-fold function. It is the bearer of light for common use, specifically for household purpose and it also has votive use at the time of domestic rites and festivals. Within the votive types structural changes with usages can be marked like Arathi lamps, Deepalakshmi, Standing and Chain lamps.

A lamp comes into its own during the festival of lights. Deepavali or Diwali which is celebrated throughout the country signifying the end of a dark period and the dawn of prosperity. In some parts of India spring season is given a bright welcome with lamp dance. Other than this worship of cattle and welcoming of new harvest is celebrated as sohrai among the tribes of Jharkhand, marriage and other auspicious event starts from Dev Uthani Gyaras, Chhat Puja in Bihar and Jharkhand and Eastern Uttar Pradesh and on the same day of Diwali, Jain people celebrate a festival of lights to mark the attainment of moksha by Mahavira in which lamps play an important role. The modern scientific era has offered us so much glitter by way of electrical bulbs. But our ancestors have given priority to the worship of lamp after profound experience and through the attitude of gratitude.

The exhibition "Deepam" is a small tribute to the people of India to celebrate the inner essence of the festival of lights. This exhibition takes a closer look at the varieties of lamps used and the tradition associated with it from different parts of the country across the cultural boundaries.

Royal baby is here...

Special pujas offered atop Chamundi Hill and Mysore Palace temples

Special pujas atop Chamundi Hill and the temples in the Mysore Palace premises marked the birth of the 28th descendant of the erstwhile Wadiyar dynasty this morning. Trishikha Devi Wadiyar, wife of Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, the scion of the erstwhile royal family of Mysuru, delivered a baby boy last night at a private hospital in Bengaluru.

The Mysore and Bangalore Palace were abuzz the whole of last night and this morning as the news of Trishikha giving birth to a healthy baby broke from the Cloud 9 Hospital on Old Airport Road in Bengaluru. The privy purses were abolished long ago (1971) and the royal family and its heirs do not enjoy any legal status. However, the people of old Mysuru region still revere the royal family.

Yaduveer, grandmother Pramoda Devi Wadiyar and Yaduveer's biological parents Swarup Anand Gopal Raj Urs and Tripura Sundari Devi were also at the hospital at the time of the birth of the baby boy. The baby is born under Punarvasu Nakshtra, Mithuna Rashi, according to Palace sources.

R. Rajachandra, the son-in-law of late Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, the last ruler of Mysore, speaking to Star of Mysore this morning said that the whole family was rejoicing at the birth of the baby boy. "I was the one who had sat through the adoption process of Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar on February 23, 2015. It is a great feeling that an heir is born," he said.

Asked about the 400-year-old Talakad curse, 'Talakadu Maralagali, Malangi Maduvagali, Mysooru Arasarige Makkalaagadirali' believed to have been cast by Alamelamma, wife of King Tirumalaraja, who ruled the Vijayanagar Empire, Rajachandra said, "It is a million dollar question. It may be answered in another 20 to 25 years from now. However, the fact remains that Trishikha and Yaduveer have a baby boy."

One of Yaduveer's aunts, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that Yaduveer's grandparents Madan Gopal Raj Urs and Uma Madan Gopal Raj Urs will be visiting Bengaluru shortly to see the great-grandson.

She said, "We are all very delighted to hear the news of the birth of the baby. Both Yaduveer and Trishikha are very relieved now."

'Build houses for slum-dwellers with all facilities'

Ramakrishna Mutt Seer opens MyBuild expo

Mysuru, Dec.7 (YDS&NNN)- "Everyone dreams of constructing a house in one's lifetime. It may be in a village, town or a city. MyBuild expo fulfils that need which the public should utilise fully," said Swami Muktidanandaji, Trustee, Sri Ramakrishna Mutt and Mission, Belur.

He was speaking after inaugurating the six-day MyBuild 17 expo, organised by Builders Association of India (BAI), Mysore Centre, at Maharaja's College Grounds here yesterday.

He said that engineers should build the country just like they build beautiful huge buildings. "The builders should also focus on constructing low budget houses for slum-dwellers with plenty of light, air and ventilation," he said and added, "People come to our country to learn yoga, meditation and Ayurveda. However, it is sad to see that we ourselves have neglected this ancient tradition and instead go in search of other things abroad."

Karnataka Pradesh Janata Dal (U) President Mahima Patel said that not all those who study engineering become engineers. Anyone who thinks of building something is an engineer. This kind of thoughts are very essential to build the city, district, State and the country, he added.

"A few political parties may approach the builders during election time asking them to fund the elections. However, if BAI, which has more than 50,000 members in the country, unite then a very constructive Government at the Centre can be formed," he said.

The country has developed sufficiently. However, a lot more needs to be done. Elections are the source of all corruption. Clean, simple and transparent elections must be held. If this has to happen then all the builders must approach Prime Minister Narendra Modi and urge him to conduct, free, fair and transparent elections. "If the Prime Minister can demonetise the currency overnight then it is also possible to bring in changes in election process within a week. The builders should think along these lines," said Patel.

If the cases in Police Stations, hospitals and Courts increase, it does not mean that there is development. Only if the cases come down then the society can develop, he said.

BAI State Chairman S.R. Swamy, MyBuild-17 Chairman K.R. Prabhakar Rao and Hon. Secretary S. Vasudevan BAI Mysore Chairman Mahadeswamy and Hon. Secretary Ratna Raj were present. Valedictory of MYBUILD will be held on Dec.11 at 5 pm. The expo is open for public from 10 am to 8.30 pm with an entry fee of Rs. 20 per person.

Sick Pelicans at Kokkare Bellur worries villagers

Mandya, Dec. 7 (KS) - Kokkare Bellur villagers here are a worried lot as many Spot-Billed Pelicans have taken ill after the death of a Pelican on Tuesday.

Worried villagers, who share a very good relationship with these birds, have urged the authorities concerned to take steps to protect the birds.

Although the reason for the illness has not been confirmed, villagers suspect that the birds may be suffering from a viral infection or may have fallen ill due to consumption of contaminated water, infected fish or poisonous food. But the veterinarians have ruled out the possibility of Avian Flu.

Villagers said that some Pelicans were fainting from exhaustion while many others were seen perched on tree-tops idly and added that these birds were not consuming food since a week besides becoming inactive.

A veterinarian said that lab test would be conducted into the death of a Spot-Billed Pelican.

Meanwhile, the villagers have urged the Wildlife, Forest and Veterinary officials to visit each tree where these exhausted birds are perched and collect samples of the lake water and droppings of these birds and send them to a laboratory to ascertain the illness of these birds.

The villagers also urged the officials to provide medication to these birds and undertake spraying of disinfectants as Painted Storks would be arriving in large numbers to Kokkare Bellur for roosting and breeding soon.

Private vehicles to be banned

"This has become a public nuisance and commuters also use our roads to avoid Traffic Police checking at Paduvarahalli and Hunsur Road. Some of the vehicles honk unnecessarily, disturbing the serene campus," Bharathi said.

The rule, however, will not apply to KSRTC buses that usually ply inside the campus. "We will coordinate with the Police Department for the implementation of the rule which is likely to be enforced in a month," she said.

The University, as part of its Centenary Celebrations, had constructed the four gates to avoid misuse of the campus by outsiders. At present, the campus is accessible to all and the main gates are closed only in the evening. Once the rule comes into force, every vehicle will be checked and only those sporting valid passes will be allowed entry," Bharathi said.

By Dr. Rama V. Bennur

Bhasange Balaga or Bhanuvara Sanje Geleyara Balaga celebrated its 9th anniversary on the 19th of November at Sri Vasudevacharya Bhavana. This Balaga, which started with the intention of spending the Sunday evenings in a meaningful way, has expanded its horizons by providing a stage to many art forms that include Hindustani-Karnatak classical music, Instrumental music, Bhavageethe, Janapada, Dance, Drama, Harikathe, Hasya Sanje etc. The Balaga has encouraged many a young talents by providing a platform for them.

The present President of the Balaga Srikanth remembered the guidance of late S.R. Krishnamurthy (Music critic, SOM) all through and paid tribute to him. Chief guests K.V. Murthy, H.V. Rajiv and Adarsh also wished good luck to the Balaga.

The occasion was marked by a Flute Jugalbandhi by two young flautists Mysuru A. Chandankumar and L. Sameer Rao in Karnatak and Hindustani styles. They were accompanied by G.S.Nagaraj on mridanga and Adarsh Shenoy on the tabla respectively. These two artistes have carved a niche for themselves in their fields. Perfect grooming and hard practice has resulted in shaping two fine flautists of Mysuru. Both of them have good control on blowing and can convert any musical thought through their instrument.

They started off with the familiar Hamsadhwani and preferred to develop the raga turn by turn, phrase by phrase in a very slow pace. The deep sound of Bansuri and the melodious flute unveiled the aesthetic essence of the raga in a comprehensive alapana. Kanakadasa's 'Nammamma Sharade' too had elaborate improvisation in their respective styles that was quite impressive. The Kalpana swaras were rich and scintillating. Gradually, at the crescendo, it was a display of their virtuosity.

They opted to present a raga individually thereafter. Sameer Rao chose Rag Bhimpalas. The meticulous exploration of the rag in an unhurried alap transported the listeners to a mystic world. The Bandhish he played was also soft and melodic. In contrast, Chandankumar started with the majestic Bhairavi raga. His dedicated approach combined with melody has made him a successful artiste. Bhairavi alapana was endowed with his rich imagination. Tyagaraja's composition 'Upacharamu' had good improvisation.

Gamanashrama (Karnatak) and Pooriya Kalyani (Hindustani) was yet another musical experience. The deep, pure and straight notes of Hindustani in contrast with the gamaka and other embellished notes of Karnatak music with their own identities of key phrases and movements firmly established the different styles in the minds of rasikas.

These two youngsters cast a spell with their rich alap, vibrant Tana in different registers in a systematic manner. They both are endowed with powerful blowing that produces energetic and soulful sound. They did not leave a stone unturned to elaborate the pallavi. The percussionists were also inspired and gave good support. Popular 'Bhagyada Lakshmi Baramma' of Purandaradasa brought the curtains down.

Ramsons Secretary delivers talk on Mysore Style Paintings at Delhi

Mysuru, Dec.7 (SV)- A lecture on Mysore Style Paintings was delivered by R.G. Singh, Secretary, Ramsons Kala Pratishtana, Mysuru at Kiran Nadar Museum of Art in Saket, Delhi, yesterday.

This lecture was delivered as part of the ongoing exhibition, 'Amrutha Kalasha' which features an exposition of about 200 paintings from the collections of Kuldeep Singh, a former Town Planner and an architect. The exhibition, which opened on Nov.13, will conclude on Dec.15.

Since 1973, Kuldeep Singh, now 80, has built up an extraordinary collection of over 380 paintings from early 19th and 20th Century from Thanjavur, Mysuru, Andhra and Kerala. It is believed that the collection may well be the largest in private hands.

Recalling his foray into the rarefied world of art collecting, Singh said, "About 50 years ago, I was travelling in Chennai, Tiruvananthapuram and Kochi. I was interested in architectural artefacts — doors, furniture and wooden sculpture. A friend asked me to get him two Tanjore paintings, but later didn't like them. So they lay in front of me for two months. I was to return them to the dealer on my next trip South, but I forgot them. When I went to the dealer, I don't know what overcame me but I asked to be shown more and here I am — the curiosity became a hobby and now it is an obsession."

Earlier in November, Kuldeep Singh was in Mysuru to look at Ramsons Kala Pratishtana's collection of Mysore Style paintings. He also visited Bidaram Krishnappa Rama Mandira and several other Rama Mandiras in city which have a collection of Mysore Style paintings.

His visits to these Rama Mandiras was for a chapter about them in the special volume of the 'Kuldeep Singh Collection' being published by Marg Publications later next year.

The book is being written by art scholar Dr. Anna L. Dallapiccola with contributions from Kuldeep Singh, and for the same book a chapter on Mysore Style Paintings has been written by R.G. Singh.

Indian Super League 2017

Jamshedpur FC scores maiden win

Delhi, Dec. 7 - Jamshedpur FC picked up their first win of Indian Super League (ISL) 2017-18 beating Delhi Dynamos FC 1-0 at the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium in Delhi yesterday. Nigerian striker Izu Azuka scored the only goal of the match in the 61st minute.

The hosts registered the first shot of the night on target in the 4th minute after Lallianzuala Chhangte did well to earn his side a free-kick in a dangerous area. Paulinho Dias took the responsibility of the free-kick and tested Jamshedpur goalkeeper Subrata Paul, who made an easy save.

The Dynamos then put the ball into the back of the net nine minutes later after another Dias free-kick was floated into the box dangerously. Kalu Uche got on the end of Dias' cross and nodded it beyond Paul but the assistant referee rightly raised his flag for offside.

Jamshedpur's first real chance came in the 21st minute after a swift counter-attack led to Bikash Jairu and Azuka exchanging neat passes near the edge of the Delhi penalty box. Azuka managed to get his shot away but he dragged his effort fractions wide of the target. Neither team, however, managed to establish a real foothold in the game as the half meandered on with the sides finding it difficult to create any clear-cut chances.

The visitors started the second half positively thanks to a good cross from the left by Azuka. Memo got on the end of the cross and hit the target, but Delhi's Albino Gomes was perfectly positioned in goal to make the save. Andre Bikey followed up Memo's effort shortly after with a header of his own from a corner that Gomes again dealt with.

Jamshedpur then had a golden opportunity to break the deadlock just before the hour-mark after being awarded a penalty for Pratik Chowdhary's foul on Azuka. Bikey stepped up to the spot but Gomes went low to his right and denied Jamshedpur once again.

The Delhi custodian was helpless in the 61st minute though when Jamshedpur finally made their second half pressure pay with their first goal in the Hero ISL. Mehtab Hossain's perfectly weighed free-kick was expertly headed into goal by Azuka to hand his side a deserved second-half lead.

They had a chance to double their lead three minutes later when Azuka and Trindade Goncalves found themselves in a 2-on-1 situation against Delhi's Chowdhary. Azuka passed to Goncalves to put him through on goal but the Brazilian failed to keep his effort on target to the relief of the home crowd.

It was end-to-end stuff during the closing stages of the contest as Delhi looked for an equaliser, while Jamshedpur searched for a two-goal cushion. The game got increasingly stretched in the seven minutes of injury-time, but in the end Jamshedpur did just about enough to secure their first-ever Hero ISL victory.

A nation of shopkeepers

Meaning: The English; commonly attributed to Napoleon, the phrase is a reference to England or the United Kingdom.
Origin: Adam Smith, in his Wealth of Nations, 1776, wrote:
"To found a great empire for the sole purpose of raising up a people of customers, may at first sight, appear a project fit only for a nation of shopkeepers. It is, however, a project altogether unfit for a nation of shopkeepers, but extremely fit for a nation whose government is influenced by shopkeepers. " But the phrase was first used in an offensive sense by the French revolutionary Bertrand Barère de Vieuzac on June 11, 1794 in a speech to the National Convention: “Let Pitt then boast of his victory to his nation of shopkeepers”. Later, during the Napoleonic wars, the British press mentioned the phrase, attributing it either to “the French” or to Napoleon himself. Josiah Tucker, the Dean of Gloucester, preceded them both in 1766, although not with the precise text of the currently-used version of the phrase: And what is true of a shopkeeper is true of a shopkeeping nation."
